

each customer can buy many tickets each movie will sell many tickets a ticket would be generated each time one is bought, during generation, the foreign keys in the ticket table ensure that tickets cannot be generated without both a customer and valid movie choice each customer can buy many concessions that is the extent of my reasoning